Hispanic and Latino Americans have contributed greatly to countless aspects of our nation’s culture, including business. The historic numbers tell the story: According to the Joint Economic

Committee Hispanic Entrepreneurship and Business Brief, the nearly 5 million Hispanic-owned businesses across the U.S. generate more than $800 billion for the American economy annually. Nearly one in four new businesses is Hispanic-owned, and those businesses are making huge impacts in their communities and beyond. Just look at U.S. Navy veteran and former California

Small Business Person of the Year, Hernán Luis y Prado. Thanks to SBA loans and federal contracting opportunities, Hernán has been able to start and grow VetPowered, LLC, an advanced manufacturing company that helps veterans and service members transition to the workforce after their military careers.

During National Hispanic Heritage Month, September 15 - October 15 support the small businesses in your local area while taking advantage of SBA’s resources to help turn your ideas into big-time success stories.

- Local Assistance: The SBA teams up with organizations around the country to provide free and low-cost services. Resource partners such as Small Business Development Centers, Women’s Business Centers, Veterans Business Outreach Centers, and Community Navigators help entrepreneurs, including those in underrepresented and underserved communities, access training, counseling, funding, and more. There is also the Hispanic Business Owners Hub of SCORE business mentors.
- Funding: A variety of financial resources are available for Hispanic and Latino entrepreneurs looking to acquire the capital they need to start, grow, and expand their businesses. In fact, fiscal year 2022 was a historic year for lending in traditionally underserved communities. More than $72 million in lending was provided to minority-owned businesses across the SBA’s 7(a), 504, and microloan programs. Use our Lender Match tool to get matched with an SBA-approved lender today.

- Contracting Opportunities: Did you know that an all-time high of federal contract dollars was awarded to small businesses in the last fiscal year? The federal government exceeded its goal by 3.5%, marking a historic expansion of access to contracting. Learn more about SBA’s resources and programs to help you contract with the federal government.
- Learning Platform: Owning a business is a learning process, even for seasoned entrepreneurs. That is why the SBA offers free online courses through its Learning Center. Topics include how to write a business plan, social media marketing and more. Visit sba.gov/learning to see if there’s a topic that supports your small business needs.

The SBA is proud to celebrate the legacy of Hispanic business ownership in America. For more information, visit sba.gov. Para una versión en español de nuestro sitio web, visite sba.gov/es.

Biden-Harris Administration Invests More than $100 Million in Recycling Infrastructure Projects Through Investing in America Agenda

[Article originally appeared in www.epa.gov]

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) announced more than $100 million from President Biden’s Investing in America agenda to expand recycling infrastructure and waste management systems across the country, representing EPA’s largest recycling investment in 30 years.

EPA has selected 25 communities to receive grants totaling more than $73 million under the newly created Solid Waste Infrastructure for Recycling funding opportunity. In addition, the agency is making available approximately $32 million for states and territories to improve solid waste management planning, data collection and implementation of plans.

The grants support the implementation of EPA’s National Recycling Strategy to build an economy devoted to keeping materials, products, and services in circulation for as long as possible – what’s known as a “circular economy.”

“President Biden’s Investing in America agenda tackles our most pressing environmental challenges including climate change and lead in drinking water, and today we add another historic investment to better manage waste in communities across America,” said EPA Administrator Michael S. Regan. “By investing in better recycling, EPA is deploying resources to provide recycling services across the country, including in disadvantaged communities, while preventing waste that contributes to the climate crisis, supporting local economies and creating good-paying jobs.”

“Recycling helps us protect our environment while creating jobs and promoting economic growth,” said Senator Tom Carper, Chairman of the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee. “Thanks to the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law, this unprecedented investment will provide communities across our country with the opportunity to improve their recycling programs and implement more sustainable waste-management practices. I applaud EPA for the hard work in getting this funding out the door, and I look forward to working together to advance policies that strengthen our nation’s recycling infrastructure.”

President Biden’s Investing in America agenda, a key pillar of Bidenomics, is growing the American economy from the middle out and bottom up – from rebuilding our nation’s infrastructure, to driving over $500 billion in private sector manufacturing and clean energy investments in the United States, to creating a manufacturing and innovation boom powered by good paying jobs that don’t require a four-year degree, to building a clean-energy economy that is lowering energy costs for hard-working families, combatting climate change and making our communities more resilient.

EPA’s Solid Waste Infrastructure for Recycling Grant Program is also advancing the President’s Justice40 Initiative, which aims to ensure that 40% of the overall benefits of certain federal investments flow to disadvantaged communities that are marginalized, underserved, and overburdened by pollution. Approximately $56 million out of the $73 million – or 76% - of the total funding for communities will go toward projects that benefit disadvantaged communities.

SBA Administrator Isabel Guzman to discuss implications for Black contractors following the Ultima Services Corp. v. U.S. Dept. of Agriculture decision

[Article originally appeared in <https://usblackchambers.org/>]

The U.S. Black Chambers Inc. (USBC) hosted a fireside chat with the Small Business Administration (SBA) Administrator Isabel Guzman to discuss the recent decision issued by the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Tennessee (Greenville Division) on the Ultima Services Corp. v. U.S. Dept. of Agriculture case. The court ruled in late July that the SBA's 8(a) Business Development program could no longer rely on race as a justification for stating a business' social disadvantage and need to use the 8(a) program, this program is critical in connecting entrepreneurs of all backgrounds to contract opportunities in a competitive marketplace.

Following the case, all new applications to the 8(a) program were put on pause, followed by a release of public guidance explaining that the program will now require all current participants who are certified under the presumption of social disadvantage to re-certify using a social disadvantage narrative.

USBC urges its members and chamber leaders to refer to the available resources including a Guide for Writing a Social Disadvantage Narrative and SBA's "Social Disadvantage Narrative" Information Session Webinar hosted on August 30, 2023. Sharing these resources and reviewing them closely is essential for helping impacted businesses navigate this change that was released in response to the case.

Ron Busby, Sr., President and CEO of the U.S. Black Chambers Inc. stated the following:

"While we are disheartened to witness yet another attack on federal programs intended to connect our business community to contract opportunities, especially through once-in-a-generation investments in infrastructure and manufacturing efforts, we underscore our commitment towards ensuring that Black firms are equipped to navigate the updated 8(a) processes and guidelines. We will not hesitate to engage our vast network of public-private partnerships and will continue to work alongside our partners to provide timely updates, resources, and guidance for our impacted businesses in the 8(a) program following the recent developments."

The SBA's 8(a) Business Development program provides businesses with an opportunity to participate in a nine-year program that provides training, technical assistance mentoring, and guidance for small firms to effectively compete in the federal procurement marketplace. This program has been critical to providing Black firms with economic opportunity in government contracting. Read more about the 8(a) program. SBA recently released new guidance to help 8(a) program participants navigate the court's ruling.

AB 258 (Reyes) - Small Business Information Act: Internet Web Portal

By calasiancc.org

The CalAsian Chamber is co-sponsoring, Assembly Bill (AB) 258 (Reyes), in partnership with the California African American and Hispanic Chambers of Commerce. On Wednesday, September 13, the bill passed off the Senate Floor on unanimous roll call and is now headed to the Assembly for Concurrence.

AB 1198 (Grayson) - GO-Biz: Energy Unit: Equity

By calasiancc.org

AB 1198 (Grayson) is co-sponsored by the California Asian, African American, and Hispanic Chambers of Commerce. Assemblymember Tim Grayson has been spearheading this effort, and he, along with the Governor's office, has agreed to continue the conversation through the Fall. Making AB 1198 a two-year bill will give the Assemblymember, his staff, and the CalAsian Chamber Public Policy team, more time to coordinate and refine the bill to ensure its effectiveness on behalf of the small business community.

RACIAL EQUITY

Oakland Resident Nikko Viquiera Appointed as Deputy Senior Vice President of Programs for National Racial Equity Organization, Race Forward

Race Forward announced the appointment of Oakland resident Nikko Viquiera as the organization's Deputy Senior Vice President of Programs. In this newly created role, Viquiera, who previously served as the Director of Training Strategies, will work alongside Senior Vice President of Programs Julie Nelson to align Race Forward's programs for success and sustainability, deepen collaborations, and ensure smooth and efficient operations. He will directly oversee four programs, Training Strategies, Conferences and Convenings, Place-Based Strategies, and Research, and will support departmental alignment via management of special projects.

"I am delighted and looking forward to working with Nikko in this critical role," said Nelson. "Nikko's thoughtful analysis and innovative strategies will help deepen collaboration both internally among our program leadership team and externally with our partners and funders."

Prior to his current position, Viquiera led the organization's work of building the capacity of organizations, agencies, and jurisdictions to normalize, operationalize, and organize racial equity. He led a team of facilitators and trainers who respond to the racial equity needs of different organizations by providing training, coaching and other organizational change processes.

Together with the Training Strategies Team, he mobilized thousands of individuals and organizations to support and become part of the larger movement for racial justice.

"Across the country, in schools, government, and many organizations, we are seeing unprecedented attacks on racial equity programs and policies that are meant to dismantle systemic racism and improve the material conditions of people of color," Viquiera said. "The work for racial equity has always been important, but this moment requires imagination, vision, coordination, strategic insight and diligence."

Born and raised in the Philippines, Viquiera holds a bachelor's degree in creative writing from the Ateneo de Manila University and a master's in international development and economics from Fordham University. Over the years, he has worked with social justice organizations involved in youth and education development, food and hunger justice, and disaster relief. He is also passionate about great poetry and fiction novels, and spends his free time reviewing novels by authors of color and organizes book clubs with friends and colleagues.

$100 Million in Recycling Infrastructure Projects

Solid Waste Infrastructure for Recycling Grants for Communities

The recycling grants for communities will support improvements to waste management systems across the country and will range from $500,000 to $4 million per grant. Selected projects include purchasing new fleets of recycling collection vehicles and bins to provide curbside recycling services for communities currently lacking access; upgrades to material recovery facilities to reduce contamination; enhancements to composting and organics programs and infrastructure; and construction of various types of facilities that improve recycling, composting, and reuse infrastructure for materials such as plastics and food waste.

Solid Waste Infrastructure for Recycling Grants for States and Territories

The recycling grants for states and territories will provide funding to all 56 states, territories, and the District of Columbia via grants ranging from $360,000 to $750,000; with the highest grant amounts supporting those states and territories that need it the most. These grants represent important steps toward achieving the EPA's National Recycling Goal and Food Loss and Waste Reduction Goal. Funded activities include improving post-consumer materials management programs through developing or updating solid waste management plans and strengthening data collection efforts.

Additional Background:

The announcement for states, territories, and communities is the first round of funding from this new grant program. In the coming months, EPA will announce the selected recipients of the recycling grants for Tribes and intertribal consortia, as well as the recipients of EPA's new Recycling Education and Outreach grant program.

The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law provides $275 million total from fiscal year 2022 to fiscal year 2026 for grants authorized under the Save Our Seas 2.0 Act - the largest investment in recycling in 30 years. The recycling grants are supplemented with additional funding provided through EPA's annual appropriations. EPA has selected these entities to receive funding for recycling infrastructure projects and anticipates making all the awards announced today once all legal and administrative requirements are satisfied.

For details about the Solid Waste Infrastructure for Recycling Grant Program selectees and other Bipartisan Infrastructure Law-related funding opportunities, visit the EPA recycling grants webpage.

Hispanic-Owned Small Businesses Succeed with Help from Mentors

[Article originally appeared in www.prnewswire.com]

Hispanic-owned businesses contribute $800 billion to the U.S. economy annually, yet nearly a third of Hispanic small business owners cite raising capital as one of their greatest business challenges. As they continue to work toward a better financial future, entrepreneurs can benefit greatly from the help of an experienced mentor. During National Hispanic Heritage Month, SCORE – mentors to America’s small businesses – invites Hispanic executives to consider volunteering as a SCORE mentor.

A great benefit of volunteering for SCORE is as mentors, we have the wonderful opportunity to give entrepreneurs hope, keep their doors open, and pursue overlooked opportunities to grow and scale their businesses,” said SCORE Chicago mentor Hannah Fernandez. “Small business owners don’t have to be alone in their entrepreneurial journey. They can have someone invested in their success and who has been there and done that – rooting for them and guiding them along the way.”

Support leads to success

Through SCORE, mentors offer support and share their industry-specific knowledge with entrepreneurs through one-on-one mentorship. This can be conducted in person, over the phone or through virtual platforms, ensuring flexibility for both mentors and mentees. By guiding a client through their business journey, SCORE mentors make a measurable impact on the nation’s economy while also giving back to their community.

“My mentor, Jesus Muguerza, has been instrumental in providing me with clarity regarding the next steps for my business,” said SCORE client Diana Reels, author and founder of Dos Worlds. “His patience, encouragement, and extensive knowledge and expertise have been invaluable assets in guiding me forward.”

Join today

Hispanic executives interested in volunteering with SCORE can visit www.score.org/volunteer to learn more and apply online. SCORE offers a skills assessment to match volunteers’ expertise with the needs of entrepreneurs seeking mentoring or workshop facilitation. In particular, SCORE is looking for more mentors who speak both English and Spanish. SCORE provides an onboarding and training program to get started and also requires that mentors complete certification training. SCORE welcomes new volunteers who are committed to fostering small business growth. To learn more about the onboarding process, visit SCORE’s website.

“As a SCORE mentor, I have witnessed firsthand the positive impact that mentorship can have on Hispanic entrepreneurs,” said SCORE Orange County mentor Zoila Sanguinetti. “SCORE provides an opportunity for me to share my knowledge and contribute to the growth of these entrepreneurs. The most rewarding aspect of being a mentor is seeing the transformation of ideas into thriving businesses and the determination of those I guide.”

Work and Lifestyle of Young Adults Changed During the Pandemic

[Article originally appeared in www.census.gov]

By Lydia R. Anderson, George M. Hayward, Kevin McElrath, and Zachary Scherer

Young adulthood (ages 18-34) is characterized by many life changes that may include starting employment, going to college and new living situations. But in recent years, this life stage has been affected by the COVID-19 pandemic, which has brought about large-scale societal transformations.

A new U.S. Census Bureau data visualization explores these changes across a myriad of social characteristics of young adults from 2019 to 2021 including working from home; college enrollment; living arrangements; and computer and internet use.

Between 2019 and 2021, the share of young adults ages 18 to 34 who:

- worked from home increased by 12.0 percentage points.
- had a broadband internet subscription increased by 2.4 percentage points.
- were enrolled in college or graduate school decreased by 0.7 percentage points.
- lived alone increased by 1.1 percentage points.

Other highlights of changes in the social characteristics of young adults from 2019 to 2021:

- The percentage of young adults working from home in Massachusetts increased 19.5 points from 4.8% to 24.3%.
- The percentage of young adults who owned a laptop or desktop computer in Mississippi increased 5.2 points from 72.1% to 77.3%.
- The number of young adults enrolled in public undergraduate educational institutions decreased 12.9%, from roughly 12.6 million in 2015 to 10.9 million in 2021.

Social Characteristics of Young Adults in 2019 and 2021

Young adulthood is often a time of many changes, including in education, work, and living arrangements. This data visualization focuses on the characteristics of young adults (aged 18-34) during the period of time overlapping with the Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.

From 2019 to 2021, the percentage of young adults aged 18 to 34 who...

worked from home increased by 12.0 percentage points.

had a broadband internet subscription increased by 2.4 percentage points.

were enrolled in college or graduate school decreased by 0.7 percentage points.

lived alone increased by 1.1 percentage points.

All estimates are based on a sample survey and are subject to sample variability and nonsampling error. Comparative statements in this visualization have been tested for statistical significance. However, unstated differences between groups and time points are not tested for statistical significance. The U.S. Census Bureau reviewed this data product for unauthorized disclosure of confidential information and approved the disclosure avoidance practices applied to this release. Doordash Commits to San Francisco as APEC Fundraising Partner

[Article originally appeared in <https://sf.gov>]

Mayor London N. Breed recognized DoorDash as a major sponsor to support San Francisco as the host City for the 2023 Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) Leaders' Meeting in November. DoorDash is one of the earliest major donors for the City's APEC fundraising efforts, which now total $11.5 million. As a lead contributor and thought-partner to the City for this multilateral, global convening of economic leadership, DoorDash co-founder and CEO Tony Xu will serve as Co-Chair of San Francisco's 2023 APEC Host Committee.

Early this year in May, DoorDash donated $500,000 to the San Francisco Special Events Committee which is responsible for all the APEC-related fundraising efforts. This generosity marks a significant contribution to APEC's success and demonstrates their commitment to making a positive impact as a global business leader. DoorDash has also pledged to serve as a strong advocate for and partner to San Francisco through its continued community engagement and community-building efforts.

"DoorDash's support instills confidence in San Francisco's future and the values that APEC represents," said Mayor London Breed. "That is why I am so grateful for DoorDash's early commitment to support all of the efforts we have been doing to make sure people can have an incredible time in San Francisco. As our City departments and partners are working together, I am confident that the thousands of APEC attendees will have the best stories to tell while they are visiting our City."

"With the world's eyes set on San Francisco this fall, we have a tremendous opportunity to demonstrate how our City is continuing to grow as a global capital of innovation," said Tony Xu, co-founder and CEO of DoorDash. "DoorDash's mission to empower local economies across the globe starts right here in our own backyard, and extends throughout the Asia-Pacific region. We're proud to work closely with Mayor Breed to help make the APEC Leaders' Meeting an unforgettable experience that will drive better economic collaboration internationally."

DoorDash's contributions will be instrumental in enhancing experiences for attendees and covering essential expenses that showcase what San Francisco has to offer to the world. This support not only strengthens this international conference but also underscores their dedication to community engagement on a global stage.

DoorDash and APEC

DoorDash is a technology company that connects consumers with their favorite local businesses in more than 25 countries across the globe, including in the Asia-Pacific region. Founded in 2013 and headquartered in San Francisco, DoorDash builds products and services to help businesses innovate, grow, and reach more customers. DoorDash is building infrastructure for local commerce, enabling merchants to thrive in the convenience economy, giving consumers access to more of their communities, and providing work that empowers. In their first decade, DoorDash has created significant value in the global marketplace for communities, facilitating a total of 5 billion consumer orders through their platform, directly driving $100 billion in new sales for merchants, and helping Dashers earn over $35 billion in added income.
